Giampolo Law Group (GLG) is a boutique law firm changing what people expect from their attorneys by delivering customized, results-driven legal services to every business, organization, and individual we represent in a wide range of legal services including LGBT Estate Planning and Adoptions, Employment Discrimination, Transgender Law, Business Law, and Real Estate. GLG provides innovative, efficient, and results-driven legal solutions to setup, develop, and optimize your business, while also protecting your personal assets. Whether your concerns are those of an established company, startup business, charitable organization, property owner, spouse, new parent, investor, artist, or inventor, GLG combines unmatched expertise with a customized and cost-effective approach to client service.

Very rarely do clients' needs fit neatly into a single box. An effective attorney, no matter what their particular expertise, must engage with each client to truly understand the complexities and inter-relationships of their legal and business concerns. Separating one from the other, or isolating a single issue without analyzing the big picture is the equivalent of patching over a problem instead of addressing the root cause.

Unfortunately, this narrow, transaction-based practice of law is standard for the vast majority attorneys and their clients. We are committed to changing that.

GLG's legal and business expertise is matched only by our commitment to client service. As a boutique practice, client communication and service is vital because we learn and grow with our clients as their needs evolve over time. GLG's unwavering dedication to service, education, and preparation puts our clients in the best possible position for success.
